FIRST QUARTER REPORT

July through September 2009

Metro

People places • Open spaces

Clean air and clean water do not stop at city limits or county lines. Neither does the need for jobs, a thriving economy and good transportation choices for people and businesses in our region. Voters have asked Metro to help with the challenges that cross those lines and affect the 25 cities and three counties in the Portland metropolitan area.

A regional approach simply makes sense when it comes to protecting open space, caring for parks, planning for the best use of land, managing garbage disposal and increasing recycling. Metro oversees world-class facilities such as the Oregon Zoo, which contributes to conservation and education, and the Oregon Convention Center, which benefits the region's economy.

FY 2009-10 Quarterly Report

First Quarter

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

November 5, 2009

Dear President Bragdon and Members of the Metro Council:

On behalf of the Finance Team I am pleased to present Metro's First Quarter Financial Report for FY 2009-10. This report covers the beginning of the new year and while limited to July-August-September activities, it is sufficiently sobering to urge cautious spending during this year and very careful planning for next year. Whether the recession is technically over or not, the persisting effect is not.

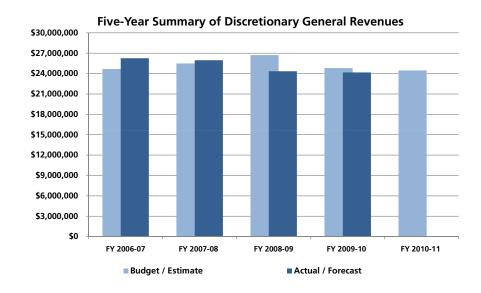

Revenues are short ...

Annual revenues are expected to be 6 percent lower than budgeted. This includes both enterprise revenues from our own activities as well as general revenues such as excise tax, property tax and interest income.

Enterprise revenues through the summer varied. The hot weather resulted in increased admissions revenues at parks facilities. September brought a record-breaking attendance month at the zoo, realizing the anticipated bounce from the opening of Predators of the Serengeti but not enough to overcome the below-average performance in July and August. Tonnage is about 2 percent off from the already conservative tonnage forecast, affecting both solid waste revenues and general excise tax revenues. Transient lodging tax remains down.

Discretionary general fund revenues are all trending down. Property tax collections are now expected to be lower, although the actual results will not be seen until next quarter when the first property taxes are turned over. Interest earnings are the lowest they have been in many years. This quarter propels us to make very cautious budget assumptions for next year.

... and expenditures are generally in check

The continuing effect of little or no inflation has had some benefits. Fuel and energy prices remain steady and price agreements tied to CPI indicators are not moving up. Enterprise activity is down, reducing revenue but also reducing costs, although not on a perfect one-to-one basis. Salary constraints and freezes for non-represented employees have helped. Active management of vacancies to achieve expenditure reduction is underway. New capital spending has been delayed at Metro South for programmatic reasons. Capital spending at the Oregon Zoo is accelerating for both new exhibits and bond projects.

And on the horizon

The first quarter coincides with the setting of budget assumptions for the next year. We review the assumptions made last year to guide this year's operations, and we consider adjustments to make in forming the new budget assumptions. We expect revenues to remain stressed, particularly the discretionary revenues which have allowed the Council to make multi-year commitments. We expect labor costs to rise, especially where labor agreements have floors higher than current economic indicators. Last year we dipped into the reserves as tonnage fell but were able to replenish them from uncommitted general fund balance. In the coming year we have little or no uncommitted general fund balance to cover any shortfalls. It will require great discipline to remain true to our financial policies.

... Choices will come with a price

The first quarter's performance confirms what we recently posited: the FY 2010-11 budget will be balanced on hard choices.

To exercise a new choice, a new strategy or a new direction, something we do today will have to change or go away to balance the accounts. Some choices will have to be executed slowly, perhaps over three years instead of in just one. Moving slowly on certain choices may require that other choices wait for three years even to begin.

The key to managing through these constraints will be to make active choices, focused on the future. As we move into budget development, we look forward to the discussion.

Sincerely,

Margo Norton

Director of Finance and Regulatory Services

Revenues for Metro, excluding the Metropolitan Exposition Recreation Commission (MERC), totaled $26.4 million through the first quarter, or 14 percent of the annual budget. Revenues at year-end are projected to reach $176 million, 6 percent below the budgeted $187 million. Enterprise revenues (charges for services) are off in all major enterprise areas, led by shortfalls in zoo revenues. Tonnage remains down but closer to this year's conservative budget than last year. Discretionary general revenues (property tax, interest earnings and excise tax) are all trending below budget levels.

Program revenues, described by type and center or service in the section below, generally include enterprise revenues, grants, internal service charges and contributions.

General revenues, detailed on page 8, include property and excise tax revenues, interest earnings and other shared government revenues.

The below-budget projection in charges for services revenue is related to the projected shortfall at the zoo. A change in the way planning grants are budgeted has resulted in a projection that is closer to budget than seen in previous years.

PROGRAM REVENUE BY DEPARTMENT

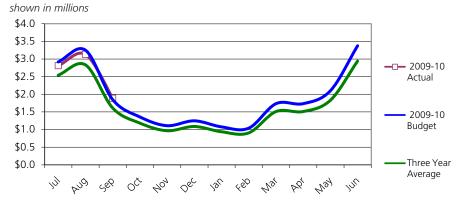

Finance and Regulatory Services

Contractor's Business License revenue appears to be returning to previous levels. A significant number of licenses renew in January.

Revenues remain down

Oregon Zoo

Oregon Zoo- Program Revenues by Month

Falling zoo revenues prompt new strategies Zoo revenues are down fiscal year-to-date and forecasted to end at $1.55 million below the FY 2009-10 budget if current trends continue. The most significant revenue categories below budget include admissions, food service, retail sales and tuition and lecture revenues. The delayed opening of Predators of the Serengeti exhibit negatively impacted summer guest revenues. In addition, increased summer camp offerings did not draw increased registrations, with summer 2009 registrations almost the same as summer 2008 registrations. A likely reason for the decreased revenues is the continued economic challenges faced by Metro region residents.

Zoo management is actively reviewing FY 2009-10 plans and associated revenues to identify opportunities. Beginning October 1st, the zoo offered a limited time combined discount package of general admission, train ride and concessions to spur overall guest spending. Early results show positive impact. The zoo continues to market Predators of the Serengeti as a must see attraction, which resulted in record attendance in September. Management is reviewing the marketing of camps and classes to identify opportunities to increase registrations for winter camps and classes, as well as June 2010 summer camp. In addition, management is exploring spring break 2010 offerings to ensure the zoo is positioned to attract strong attendance, as well as finalizing plans for a summer 2010 temporary exhibit of Extreme Dinosaurs.

Planning and Development

Planning- Program Revenues by Month

shown in millions

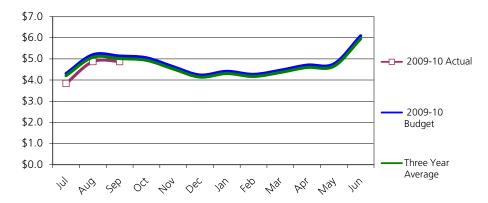

First quarter Planning and Development and Research Center grant billings are processed after the close of the quarter; these billings are estimated at $1.92 million. Through the first quarter, Planning and Development revenues are expected to end the year close to budget. A change in the way that grants are budgeted, implemented in FY 2008-09, has increased the accuracy of the budgeted figures.

Because the timing of grant revenues varies significantly and unpredictably from year to year, the "budget" line is not included in the chart above.

Parks and Environmental Services

Parks and Environmental Services- Program Revenues by Month

shown in millions

Overall Parks and Environmental Services program revenues are projected to end the year right at budgeted levels (99 percent).

Property Services: Parking revenues are up slightly from first quarter FY 2008-09 and are expected to end the year very close to budget.

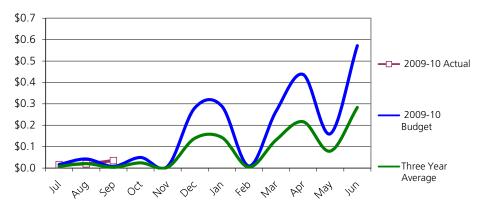

Parks Operations: Overall parks revenues are projected at 10 percent lower than budgeted levels. Increases in park attendance during the first quarter have been offset by lower golf fees and catering revenues.

Solid Waste Operations: Tonnage at Metro facilities is trending 2.9 lower than budget, while tonnage at non-Metro facilities is right on budget through first quarter. Solid Waste Operations projects year-end program revenue to be 0.5 percent lower than budgeted. The expected shortfall in revenue due to tonnage is partially offset by an increase in Transaction Fee revenue.

Sustainability Center

Sustainability Center- Program Revenues by Month*

shown in millions

Sustainability Center program revenues are projected to end the year slightly lower than budget (96.9 percent). Actual grant revenues will depend on the ability to complete the projects associated with the grants; several projects have been in a scoping phase during the first quarter.

*Prior year revenues that make up the Three Year Average exclude a $4.3 million land donation made in June 2009.

Construction Excise Tax— Construction Excise tax revenues are reported quarterly by the larger jurisdictions with the first tax turnover not anticipated until November 1. Collections though the first quarter will likely bring the cumulative total to $6.3 million, the amount authorized in the initial Construction Excise Tax (CET) legislation. In June 2009 the CET was reauthorized for an additional five years.

Interest Earnings– The average yield on investments during the first quarter was 1.53 percent, with a September yield of only 1.47, versus a budgeted rate of 2.5 percent. Rates continue to fall, resulting in a projected interest shortfall of more than $2 million.

Excise tax impacted by OCC

Metro Excise Tax— The year-end projection for non-tonnage excise tax fell 15 percent below budget in the first quarter. The solid waste per ton excise tax is projected to be 2-3 percent lower than the budgeted figure; last year's sharp tonnage decline appears to be stabilizing. Please see the excise tax appendix for more detail.

Oregon Zoo- Operating Expenditures by Month

shown in millions

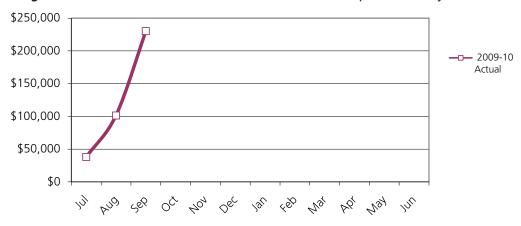

Recognizing that zoo revenues are down significantly in the first quarter, management seized opportunities to hold down costs in the first quarter while still providing a positive guest experience. Personal services and material and services expenditures are slightly below budget and three-year average trends. Operating expenditures are forecasted to end the fiscal year $500,000 below budget given current trends in attendance and guest spending. Management continues to review short and long-range plans to identify opportunities to reduce expenditures. The drop in August represents a one-time change in timing for expenses associated with retail vendor Aramark, as well as a processing lag associated with year-end and start of year expenditure accruals, some of which is offset by a corresponding increase in September.

The zoo opened Predators of the Serengeti in September and targets June 2010 to fully open the Red Ape Reserve exhibit. These two highly complex projects experienced increased costs that are being addressed with funds from The Oregon Zoo Foundation and uncommitted zoo capital account balance. Capital fund appropriations are believed to be adequate to complete the projects, with total year-end expenditures forecast slightly below appropriations.

Lower revenues require expenditure control The zoo continues to renew and replace assets from the current year renewal and replacement list. While the intent is for all projects to be complete at June 30, 2010, historical trending indicates some projects will be deferred or carried forward and finished in FY 2010-11. The year-end expenditure projection reflects this trend by estimating 95 percent of appropriations spent. This spending reflects the Council's October 2010 Capital Improvement Plan resolution authorizing the use of renewal and replacement funds for those portions of Predators of the Serengeti and Red Ape Reserve projects that reflect the renewal and replacement of previously existing assets.

Oregon Zoo Infrastructure and Animal Welfare Bond- Expenditures by Month

Work on the bond program is increasing with the August hiring of the bond program manager. The Oregon Zoo Bond Advisory Committee is in place and will meet for the second time in early November. The external audit of FY2008-09 bond expenditures is underway, and the Zoo Bond Citizens Performance Oversight Committee is forming with an expected first meeting in January 2010. The citizen committees and external audit of bond expenditures will provide the Council and citizens oversight of bond activities and spending for appropriateness and effectiveness.

The veterinary hospital and quarantine project land-use application was approved by the City of Portland in September, allowing construction plan review and permitting to proceed. Once the plans are approved, the project will undergo final cost estimating to provide confidence the project can be completed within the identified budget. When those milestones are met, the project will be advertised for bid with subsequent selection of a general contractor. Preliminary timelines were based on major project construction beginning fall 2009. The change to major project construction beginning in spring 2010 significantly reduces bond fund expenditures forecast for FY 2010.

Vet hospital proceeds to final cost estimate

A Request for Proposal for architectural and life support consulting services for the penguin filtration and water saving project will soon be advertised. The project team is holding the project's scope to filtration and water saving improvements only, with the goal of reducing the overall project budget to $1 million by eliminating non-essential improvements. As the project works through design and engineering, the team will continue to refine budget and timeline information.

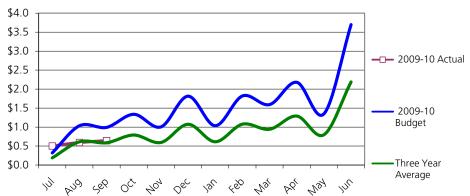

Survey work on the campus, stormwater master planning, off-site elephant project and sustainability master planning efforts are all underway. These activities are necessary to support future land use and bond project discussions.

Through the first quarter, Planning and Development expenditures are close to their 3-year average. Contractors bill Metro on a reimbursement basis, and invoices early in the year tend to lag behind completed work, resulting in an upward slope in expenditures throughout the year. Projected underspending is primarily in the Transit Oriented Development program.

Spending in the Research Center is projected to end the year very close to budgeted figures. Projected personal services overspending is due primarily to temporary employees completing work that was budgeted in contracted professional services; materials and services spending will be lower as a result. The peak in September results from timing of several contract invoices.

Parks and Environmental Services-Operating Expenditures by Month

shown in millions

Parks and Environmental Services operating expenditures for the first quarter of FY 2009-10 closely tracked the budgeted amount and historical average expenditures. Expenditures reflect normal (high) seasonal patterns of Parks and Solid Waste Operations. Year-end projections for personal services and materials and services are 96.5 percent and 97.1 percent of budgeted levels, respectively.

Capital projects held up at Metro South Solid Waste Operations: Tonnage at Metro facilities is trending 2.9 percent lower than the budget estimate. The expected shortfall in revenue will not be fully offset by a fall in expenditures. Based on this trend and lower than budgeted diesel fuel prices, year-end tonnage related expenditures are expected to be about 1.7 percent ($500,000) lower than budgeted. Metro expects to complete negotiations for a new contract(s) to operate Metro transfer stations by mid-December. The new contracts(s) will be effective April 1, 2010, and actual expenditures may differ from the current budget assumptions. Solid Waste Operations will determine over the next quarter the potential impact of the new contract(s) on the tonnage related expenditures. PES spent only 2 percent of its capital budget during the first quarter of FY 2009-10. About 98 percent of the capital budget is related to Solid Waste Operations. Metro South Transfer Station projects are temporarily on hold due to the City of Oregon City's road realignment project. Other transfer station projects are on hold awaiting the outcome of the transfer stations contractor(s) selection to avoid projects that may conflict with the new contract(s).

Sustainability Center- Operating Expenditures by Month

shown in millions

Sustainability Center operating expenditures for the first quarter of FY 2009-10 are below budgeted amounts mainly due to delay in the start of the Blue Lake Golf and Learning Center. The Outdoor School fall program expenses will not be paid until second quarter. Year-end projections for personal services and materials and services are trending toward 94.1 percent and 93.6 percent of budget, respectively.

Parks Planning and Development: Several projects remain in the scoping phase, with funds not yet needed to pay consultants. In one case, Metro is waiting for permission from the property owner to begin work. Projected capital expenditures include approximately $2.2 million for the Blue Lake Nature and Golf Learning Center project, significantly less than was budgeted for the project in the current year. This assumes that the Metro Council gives final approval to proceed to construction in January.

Resource Conservation and Recycling: Outdoor school expenditures are expected to fall short of budgeted amounts by approximately 33 percent, due primarily to school participation being lower than originally projected.

Natural Areas: Expenditures in materials and services resulting from the Local Share program tracked closely the budgeted amount. These expenses are for local jurisdictions to implement parks projects under the Natural Areas Bond program; expenses are on a reimbursement basis. Capital (land) expenditures are significantly lower than budget. The real estate market seems to have stabilized, but reluctance among sellers to complete transactions remains.

Assumptions

Split between Metro and Non Metro is based upon budgeted tonnage.

Non Metro tonnage includes Environmental Cleanup charge (ECU) of $1 per ton and Outside of Metro Tonnage disposed at Metro sites.

For comparative purposes, projections show that full funding of other solid waste tax would result in the Recovery Rate Stabilization Fund ending FY 2009-10 with a negative balance. Excise tax code changes made these allocations an annual budgetary decision, not a specified per-ton allocation.
