

Special use permit fee schedule

ACTIVITY IMPACT FEES

Impact fees recover costs related to any impact on natural resources and other park users that an activity is likely to cause. Impact level is determined by location, activity type, number of participants, applicant’s experience with the activity and other factors as appropriate.

Impact fee calculations: fees are determined based on anticipated additional admin cost, manager review, maintenance staff time, maintenance equipment and supplies and lost revenue from other park users.

Impact level	Criteria	Impact Fee
No impact	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>no staff monitoring needed</li> <li>occurs during business hours</li> <li>no resource damage likely</li> <li>no closures needed</li> </ul>	No fee

POST-ACTIVITY FEES

Metro reserves the right to assess fees after an activity or event for damages and unexpected expenses, including but not limited to additional staff time or damage to park property or natural resources. Fees will be assessed at the rates detailed above.

PERMIT FEE SUBSIDIES

Metro supports activities that advance the core work of Parks and Nature to protect water quality and fish and wildlife habitat, create opportunities to enjoy nature close to home and reflect Metro’s racial equity, diversity, and inclusions (REDI) goals. The three categories outlined below, are used to determine how permitted activities meet these goals and how much of an activities cost will be subsidized by Metro in support of advancing these goals.

Category	Explanation	Activities
Category 1: No fees will be applied	Activities that provide a substantial or considerable community benefit. These activities support the work of the department in protecting water quality, fish and wildlife habitat, connect people with nature, and/or advance REDI goals.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Community education or tour (less than 50 people)</li> <li>• Event benefiting communities of color and historically marginalized groups (less than 50 people)</li> <li>• Neighbor or agency temporary access</li> <li>• Scientific research or fieldwork</li> </ul>
Category 2: 50% of permit fees apply No site reservations fees apply	Activities that provide a balanced individual and community benefit. These activities connect people with nature and/or advance REDI goals. Activities provide a greater community benefit by facilitating student skill-building and supporting community organizations.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Community education or tour (50 or more people)</li> <li>• Event benefiting communities of color and historically marginalized groups (50 or more people)*</li> <li>• K12 or University run/walk</li> <li>• Nonprofit fundraiser (non-run/walk event)</li> <li>• Student film/photography</li> </ul>
Category 3: All fees apply	Activities that provide a substantial individual benefit. These activities connect people with nature but may fall outside of Metro’s mission, provide a direct benefit to the applicant, and/or may have a significant impact on sites.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Run/walk event (non-school, nonprofit fundraisers)</li> <li>• Sporting event or tournament</li> <li>• Festival or public event managed commercially</li> <li>• Commercial activity (i.e. for-profit class)</li> <li>• Commercial film/photography</li> <li>• Event concessions</li> <li>• Harvesting of biological materials for personal or commercial use.</li> </ul>

These categories are not intended to take away manager discretion in assessing or waiving fees as needed on a case-by-case basis.
