1:30 p.m.	Data Sharing Policy for Integrated Corridors How do we optimize multimodal travel through a large, regional corridor? Developing a common set of real-time data streams that are shared amongst regional partners will help transit, freeway, road, and shared-use mobility operators. Once all parties agree on formats and uses for the data, agencies can make better decisions in real-time and support travelers. Agency decisions may include when to deploy more transit vehicles, when/where to detour traffic and when to incentivize travel choices that relieve congestion. Please review the attached materials and participate in TransPort. This work builds on the I-84 Multimodal Integrated Corridor Management (ICM) deployment plan through FHWA's and ODOT's support.	Scott Turnoy (ODOT) / Dennis Mitchell (DKS) / Kelly Smith (DKS) / (All)
2:10 p.m.	TransPort Work Plan In 2018, TransPort created a timeline and work plan for key projects, particularly those that involved many regional stakeholders. What goes into the next three-year work plan for TransPort? Last meeting, we discussed Actions for the 2021 TSMO Strategy draft (Chapter 5), and put our thoughts toward timelines and responsibilities. While the TSMO Strategy spans the next ten years, we will zoom in to discuss and draft a near-term work plan for TransPort.	Kate Freitag (ODOT) / A.J.
