

Feedback re: staff materials

Need enough context to be effective

The background materials have been helpful

Need staff to be clear on: "This is why we're here," and "This is why this issue is significant."

Staff presenters need to be clear about the ask to CORE and our influence in the process

I agree with all the ideas from 7/20 CORE meeting debrief. Those suggestions would help get the most out of CORE members as a resource.

Staff have been clear about why they're coming to CORE and about CORE's role

Would be useful to have a Discovery Summary that includes the staff's equity analysis, the historical context of the project, and the community input.

Let's have a conversation about what it takes to build a strong committee

Content needs to be in plain language. Define the principles of plain language.

I'm happy with the information that we've been provided with.

Important for staff to share: "This is what we've heard from the community"

Meet CORE at the community level, not at the SME level

Some of the background materials contain information that are not needed for this audience or purpose

Too much background information won't get read.

Feedback re: meeting structure

Can there be an active document or follow-up with presenters after the presentation so that we can go back and leave more feedback?

Can we get the PowerPoint presentation on the Monday or Tuesday of the meeting?

Balance the relational time with the staff presentations

Would like more foundational community building

Let's revisit the CORE values and talk about what they mean for this particular group

Let's make sure everyone knows their assignment.

Model an inclusive environment

At each meeting, clarify that CORE members are not representing their day job employers or other affiliated orgs

At each meeting, give a reminder of CORE's purpose

The Debrief time is valuable

Want more time for connecting with other CORE members

Would like to see a vision statement or a guiding document based on CORE member feedback

Meld Metro values to personal values

Holding expectations for CORE members to read the background materials

Let's talk about our collective capacity (CORE members and staff) for these meetings.

Continue reaching out to CORE members for feedback

CORE values in practice
